 Kim Ketchum you know... today they gave him sole custody... I am no more than the aunt that pays for them to watch their dad go to concerts and live the coffers of his retirement --- so I have nothing left to lose myself... I can see them, occasionally, touch him... but I am court ordered to live close enough to be lauded by him...

 I didn't want to hurt you, honey, but you just wouldn't stop. Everything would be fine if you'd just stop-in Price's case, stop doing things like getting child support orders or demanding that equal civil rights trump the historical favoring of men in the workplace and civil and educational institutions.
 You know I love you, but you make me crazy when you're like that. I just can't control myself
